4 No judgment to be pronounced till the record be made up and closed.

In ordinary causes where the defender shall make appearance, and neither party shall abandon the cause, neither the lord ordinary officiating in the outer house, nor the court, shall proceed to give judgment upon the merits in the cause, until the respective averments of the parties in fact, and their pleas in matter of law, shall, as herein-after directed, be set forth on the record, and the record made up and authenticated in manner herein-after appointed.

5 Of the disposal of the dilatory defences.

It shall be the duty of the lord ordinary, at the first calling of the cause before him, to hear the parties on the dilatory defences, with power to reserve consideration on such dilatory defences as require probation, until the peremptory defences shall be pleaded, and the record adjusted in the manner herein-after directed; and if the lord ordinary shall sustain the dilatory defences, or any of them, to the effect of dismissing the action, he shall at the same time determine the matter of expences; but if, on the contrary, the said ordinary shall repel the dilatory defences, the cause shall then, with the exception herein-after to be mentioned, proceed in its due course of preparation, without any separate interlocutor being pronounced respecting expences, reserving this part of the expence to be disposed of along with the rest of the expence in the final decision of the cause; and the judgment of the lord ordinary on the dilatory defences shall be final, unless the pursuer, where the defences have been sustained and the action dismissed, shall, within twenty-one days from and after the date of the lord ordinary's judgment, apply by a note in manner herein-after directed to have such judgment reviewed by the judges of the inner house, or unless, in the case where the lord ordinary shall have repelled the defences, the defender shall, at the time of pronouncing judgment as aforesaid, give notice of his intention to bring the judgment under review, in which case the lord ordinary, instead of proceeding with the preparation of the cause, shall forthwith give judgment for the expence of that preliminary discussion; and the defender shall then be entitled, at any time within twenty-one days from the date of the interlocutor, to apply by note to the inner house for a review of the lord ordinary's judgment; and if the defender shall not avail himself of the right thus to bring the judgment of the lord ordinary under review, an interim decree, with expence of extract, shall be allowed to go out for the expences for which judgment shall have been given as aforesaid, and in reviewing the lord ordinary's judgment, and adhering to or altering the interlocutor by him pronounced, the court shall also dispose of the matter of expences relative to that preliminary discussion; and if the interlocutor of the lord ordinary repelling the defence shall be adhered to an interim decree shall be pronounced for the expences decerned for by him, with the additional expence in the court, if such shall be allowed, on which interim decree execution may proceed; and it shall not be competent to appeal to the House of Lords against the interlocutory judgment, where the action is not dismissed, unless express leave be given by the court, reserving the effect of the defence if an appeal should afterwards be taken in the cause when finally decided.

10 Final adjustment of condescendences and notes of pleas. Condescendences and notes to be signed by the counsel for the parties. Record to be made up to foreclose the parties in point of fact. Exception of res noviter veniens ad notitiam. How such new matter to be admitted on the record.

The parties shall appear before the lord ordinary, for the purpose of finally adjusting their respective averments in fact, and their notes of pleas, when it shall be the duty of the lord ordinary to hear the respective explanations of the parties, and to examine as before directed with the statement of the facts respectively, and of the pleas, as applicable to the summons and cause of action and to the defence, and to suggest any new plea which may to him appear necessary to exhaust the whole disputable matter in law or fact in the cause, after which the adjusted condescendences and answers and relative notes of pleas shall be subscribed by the counsel for the parties; and before any order shall be pronounced, or judgment delivered, as to the disposal of the cause, the record of the pleadings as adjusted shall be authenticated by the lord ordinary by his signature; and the record so made up and authenticated shall be held as foreclosing the parties from the statement of any new averments in point of fact; and no amendment of the libel or new ground of defence shall be allowed after the record shall have been thus completed, under the exception hereafter to be mentioned; the pursuer having it in his power notwithstanding to abandon the cause on paying full expences or costs to the defender, and to bring a new action if otherwise competent: Provided always, that it shall be competent to either party in the course of a cause to state matter of fact noviter veniens ad notitiam, or emerging since the commencement of the action, if on cause shown leave shall be obtained from the lord ordinary or the court so to do, the said party always paying, previous to stating such new matter on the record, such expences as may be deemed reasonable by the lord ordinary or the court; and if leave be granted, the new matter shall within a time to be limited be stated in the shape of a specific condescendence framed as above, accompanied by a note stating the plea in law arising therefrom; and the adverse party shall in such case be ordered within a reasonable time to put in his answer to such condescendence and plea, to be adjusted and made a part of the record as before directed.

11 Note of pleas to foreclose in point of law;

The pleas stated on the record, and authenticated as before directed, shall be held as the sole grounds of action or of defence in point of law, and to which the future arguments of the parties shall be confined: Provided always, that where any exception of new pleas admitted with leave of the court.new plea or ground in law shall, after the completion of the record as before, be in the course of the cause suggested, either by the lord ordinary or by the judges in the inner house, or by the party, as fit to be discussed in relation to the facts already set forth, it shall and may be competent, with leave of the lord ordinary or of the court, to add such plea to the note of pleas authenticated by the lord ordinary as before.

12 Of orders for compelling parties to lodge condescendences, &c.

The lord ordinary shall, in every instance, on due consideration of the circumstances, fix the time within which such condescendences and answers shall be lodged, and such time shall not be prorogated, except on payment of the expences previously incurred, unless before the lapse of the time so fixed special application shall be made for such prorogation, nor shall the prorogation in any instance be granted, except on cause shewn, nor oftener than once; and if the party shall fail to lodge his condescendence or answers, as the case may be, within the time originally fixed, or afterwards prorogated, the lord ordinary may hold the summons or defences for such party as his condescendence or answers, finally fixing the averments in point of fact on which he founds.

13 Of proceeding to the further disposal of the cause. Cases to be adjudged on admission of parties.

After the record of the averments and pleas shall have been adjusted and closed as herein-before directed, and when it shall appear that the parties have respectively admitted on the record all the facts requisite to the decision of the cause, so as to render any trial of the facts unnecessary, the lord ordinary may proceed to decide the cause with or without further argument, or he may take the cause to report to the inner house in the form herein-after appointed.

21 Judgment of the inner house shall decide costs, and shall be final.

The inner house shall, in deciding the cause, also determine the matter of expences; and the judgment pronounced by the inner house shall in all causes be final in the Court of Session.

22 Form in which cases shall be prepared.

Wherever cases shall be ordered, whether by the lord ordinary or by the inner house, the case shall commence with a copy of the record, as authenticated by the lord ordinary; and each ground of law or plea, as stated in the record, shall be separately argued in the case.

23 Of consultations of the judges in doubtful questions.

In order to preserve uniformity in the decisions of the court, and to settle doubtful questions of law which may arise, the judges of either division may, in all causes in which the judges of the inner house shall be equally divided in opinion, direct the cause to be judged either by the inner house judges of both divisions, or by the whole court, including the lords ordinary; and in such cases as it shall appear to them advisable to have any question occurring before them settled by the judgment of the whole court, the judges of either division may order that such matter shall be heard before the whole judges; and judgment shall in all causes be pronounced according to the opinion of 40 Interlocutor of Court of Session on proof taken in inferior courts, to be final as to findings of fact. Power to advocate against orders for proof in inferior courts.

When in causes commenced in any of the courts of the sheriffs, or of the magistrates of burghs, or other inferior courts, matter of fact shall be disputed and a proof shall be allowed and taken according to the present practice, the Court of Session shall, in reviewing the judgment proceeding on such proof, distinctly specify in their interlocutor the several facts material to the case which they find to be established by the proof, and express how far their judgment proceeds on the matter of fact so found, or on matter of law, and the several points of law which they mean to decide; and the judgment on the cause thus pronounced shall be subject to appeal to the House of Lords, in so far only as the same depends on or is affected by matter of law, but shall, in so far as relates to the facts, be held to have the force and effect of a special verdict of a jury, finally and conclusively fixing the several facts specified in the interlocutor: Provided however, that except in consistorial causes, the Court of Session shall, in reviewing the sentences of inferior judges, have power to send to the jury court such issue or issues, to be tried by jury, as to them shall seem necessary for ascertaining facts which may not have been proved to their satisfaction by the evidence already taken, or which may have been omitted in the cause, the verdict to be returned to the Court of Session, to assist that court in the determination of the cause; and the said court shall also have power to remit the whole cause for trial to the jury court; and in neither of these cases shall it be necessary to have the consent of the parties to the cancelling of the depositions already taken in the cause before proceeding to jury trial, but the 46 Lord ordinary may pass bills of suspension: Proceedings as to interlocutors complained of.

In all cases, without distinction, the lord ordinary on the bills may pass bills of suspension, without requiring the concurrence of the inner house during session, or of one or more ordinaries during vacation; and in complaining of any interlocutor pronounced by the lord ordinary on the bills, the party shall proceed, not as at present by reclaiming petition, but by presenting a printed note to the inner house, stating the nature of the bill, reciting the interlocutor, and praying for an alteration thereof; and upon such note being presented the inner house shall order the counsel for the parties to be heard, and on hearing them shall either grant or refuse the application, or appoint parties to give in mutual cases on the question; and thereafter the court shall either refuse the application, or remit to the lord ordinary to pass or to refuse the bill, or to remit to the inferior judge with instructions; and any interlocutor of the court refusing such application, or of the lord ordinary on a remit from the court, shall be final; and when a bill of suspension shall have been passed on a remit from the inner house, or in consequence of the lord ordinary having taken the cause to report to the inner house, the letters of suspension shall be discussed before a lord ordinary of that division, unless remitted ob contingentiam to some previous process depending before the other division; and in the event of bills of suspension being passed of decrees of inferior courts, it shall be competent for the lord ordinary or the court to find the suspender entitled to his expences in the inferior court, as well as in the Court of Session.

47 Cautioners in bills of suspension.

Cautioners in a bill of suspension shall be liable to fulfil the obligation in their bond, although the letters of suspension shall not be expedite before the day of citation appointed in the deliverance, and also in the case of the chargers obtaining and duly extracting protestation for not enrolling, calling, and insisting.

48 As to cases of suspension before the lord ordinary.

The lord ordinary in the outer house, before whom any suspension . . . ^{F20} shall come to be discussed, shall proceed in preparing the cause for judgment after the manner already directed as to causes in the outer house; and the party resisting the suspension shall be required, by way of defence in the outer house, to return answers to the reasons of suspension.

F22 S. 50 repealed by Administration of Justice (Scotland) Act 1933 (c. 41), Sch.

51 Regulation of forms of citation, charge, &c.

The subsisting forms of edictal citation, charge, publication, citation, and service at the Market Cross of Edinburgh, pier and shore of Leith, as against persons forth of Scotland, shall cease and be discontinued; and in lieu thereof such edictal citations, charges, publications, citations, and services at the Market Cross of Edinburgh, pier and shore of Leith, as against persons forth of Scotland, shall be done and performed by delivery of a copy thereof at the record office of the keeper of the records of the Court of Session, in the manner now practised in cases of citation or charge at the dwelling house of a party not personally apprehended; and the keeper of the records or his clerk shall forthwith register, in a book to be kept for that purpose, an abstract of the copy so delivered, exhibiting the time of service, of the nature of the writ, the names and designations of the parties, and the day against which the party shall be called upon to give obedience, or to make appearance; and the keeper of the said records shall keep three distinct and separate registers, one for all citations on summonses and orders of service, as against persons forth of Scotland, to appear before the several supreme civil courts respectively; another record for all citations by virtue of letters of supplement, to persons forth of Scotland, to appear before any of the inferior courts of Scotland; and a third for all charges, intimations, and publications, to persons forth of Scotland, given by virtue of letters other than summonses passing the signet.

52 The record of citations to be printed.

The said abstracts, in so far as they comprehend citations by virtue of summonses, precepts, warrants of court, and letters of supplement, shall periodically be printed by the keeper of the said records; and this publication by means of printing shall commence at the distance of fourteen days from the said eleventh day of November next, and shall regularly be continued at the end of each successive fourteen days; and at all times the said register of charges, citations, and publications shall be open to inspection; and the copies of charge, citation, and service, which shall be lodged as above with the keeper of the record or his clerk, shall be preserved during three years; and it shall be competent to the Court of Session to fix such allowance for the trouble and expence of the duty thus imposed on the keeper of the records, to be paid to him from the fee fund, as to the said court shall seem reasonable.
